Dayton Hamvention Names 2020 Award Winners

03/04/2020

Dayton Hamvention® has named five radio amateurs and one ham radio club as the recipients of its 2020 awards. Each year, Hamvention honors award winners in several categories — Amateur of the Year, Special Achievement Award, Technical Achievement, and Club of the Year. Hamvention Awards Committee co-chairs Michael Kalter, W8CI, and Frank Beafore, WS8B, thanked those who submitted nominations.

Amateur of the Year

Yasuo “Zorro” Miyazawa, JH1AJT, was named as Amateur of the Year. The award recognizes a radio amateur who has made a long-term commitment to the advancement to amateur radio. Licensed in 1964 at age 15, Miyazawa became interested in DXing and, later in his life, international humanitarian activities. He was inducted into the CQ DX Hall of Fame in 2015.

Miyazawa has led many DXpeditions that focus not just on handing out contacts but cooperating with the local population to implement needed humanitarian activities. In 2010, he established the Foundation for Global Children (FGC), which has since supported children and youth in Africa, Asia, and other parts of the world in a wide range of fields, including education, health promotion, medical care, and sports. “His efforts have helped revolutionize education in Japan, by creating the learning systems for children who had difficulties in ordinary schools because of dyslexia, developmental disabilities, and other issues,” the Hamvention Awards Committee said.

In addition to chairing FGC, Zorro currently serves as chief executive officer of SEISA Group and as chair of SEISA Group's Kokusai Gakuen Education Institute. He is also a visiting researcher at the University of Tokyo Graduate School of Public Policy.

Special Achievement Award

Jordan Sherer, KN4CRD, of Atlanta, Georgia, is the recipient of the Hamvention Special Achievement Award, given to a radio amateur who made an outstanding contribution to the advancement of the radio art and or science. This award typically goes to a respected radio amateur who has spearheaded a single significant project.

An experienced software engineer by day and digital amateur radio operator by night, Sherer started his journey into ham radio in 2017 exploring PSK31, JT65, and FT8. Fascinated by the ability to connect with others using low power, he set about developing a protocol for weak-signal mesh networking and communication. The result was JS8Call, a free open-source platform inspired by WSJT-X and fldigi. It allows for keyboard-to-keyboard, store-and-forward, and network relay-based communication. Since its release, thousands of hams have used JS8Call to make local and DX contacts, run digital nets, and tested NVIS propagation. It has been adopted by some Amateur Radio Emergency Service (ARES) organizations to coordinate emergency situations.

Technical Achievement Award

Hamvention bestowed its Technical Achievement Award on a group of three radio amateurs who have become well-known for their development of the WSJT-X digital software suite. The 2020 award recipients are Steve Franke, K9AN; Bill Somerville, G4WJS, and Joe Taylor, K1JT. Over the past 7 years, the trio has collaborated on all aspects of WSJT-X — in particular, the digital protocol FT8 and its contesting variant FT4. Introduced in July 2017, FT8 has accounted for a significant portion of all HF ham radio activity. Franke retired last year as a professor of electrical and computer engineering at the University of Illinois. He enjoys chasing DX, studying HF and VHF propagation, and playing with RF circuits and antennas.

Bill Somerville, G4WJS, has worked in computer software and hardware in a variety of industries, including defense, software development, and financial services. Most recently, he's been a freelance consultant providing systems programming and related services to mid-to-large software tool vendors. An active ham since 1981, he enjoys both HF and VHF, contesting, and DXing.

Joe Taylor, K1JT, an emeritus professor of physics at Princeton University. Steered into science by a boyhood fascination with radio and electronics, he won the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1993 for discovery of the first orbiting pulsar. In his retirement, he has kept busy developing and using digital protocols for weak-signal ham radio communication.

Club of the Year

The South Canadian Amateur Radio Society (SCARS) of Norman, Oklahoma, is the 2020 Club of the Year. This award honors demonstrated member involvement in varied aspects of Amateur Radio for the greater good of their community and/or their nation.

SCARS is an ARRL Special Service Club named after the Canadian River. Formed in 1977, the club has worked through its website, Facebook, YouTube channel, and weekly newsletter to expand its reach to thousands of hams from the local area to around the globe.

Based in “Tornado Alley,” the club takes emergency communication very seriously. NWS SKYWARN training and weekly ARES nets offer hams in central Oklahoma an opportunity to practice their skills before the next weather emergency. The club also sponsors an “Elmer Night” and monthly free license examination sessions and participates in community public service events. The club works closely with the American Red Cross.

Awards will be presented during Hamvention, May 15 – 17, at the Greene County Fairgrounds and Expo Center in Xenia, Ohio.

Dayton Hamvention Officials Keeping an Eye on Coronavirus Situation

03/03/2020

With Dayton Hamvention® 2020 a little more than 10 weeks away, Hamvention officials say they are closely following the coronavirus (COVID-19) situation. Show organizers will post updates as the May 15 – 17 event nears, but they’re optimistic that coronavirus will not be an issue.

“At this time, the Hamvention Executive Committee has been in contact with the Greene County Public Health Department, and we do not anticipate any impact because of this issue,” a March 3 Hamvention statement said. The Greene County Public Health Department reports that no cases of COVID-19 have been confirmed in Ohio.

“Greene County Public Health is working closely with the Ohio Department of Health and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and are prepared to respond, should there be a community spread of COVID-19,” the Hamvention statement noted. “The current risk to the general public is very low. Travel advisories are in effect, and can change anytime, so please see the CDC Travel Advisory webpage before traveling.”

The Hamvention advisory pointed out the best ways to prevent becoming infected or spreading the virus.

- Wash your hands often with soap and water, or use alcohol-based hand sanitizer.
- Avoid touching your mouth, nose, or eyes.
- Cover coughs/sneezes with your arm or a tissue.
- Avoid exposure to others who are sick.
- Stay home if you are ill and avoid close contact with others.
- Get adequate sleep and eat well-balanced meals to ensure a healthy immune system.
- Clean and disinfect frequently touched objects and surfaces.

The Ohio Department of Health also offers helpful information regarding COVID-19.

Dayton Hamvention takes place May 15 – 17 at the Greene County Fairgrounds and Expo Center in Xenia, Ohio.

Motorola Wins Multimillion Dollar Theft of Trade Secrets Case against Hytera

03/02/2020

A jury for the US District Court of the Northern District of Illinois has awarded Motorola Solutions damages of $764.6 million in its theft of trade secrets and copyright infringement lawsuit against Hytera Communications of Shenzhen, China— the maximum Motorola Solutions had sought. In early 2017 Motorola filed complaints in federal court alleging that Hytera's digital mobile radio (DMR) products employed techniques and systems that infringed on Motorola Solutions' patents and trade secrets. Already known for its Land Mobile Radio Service products, Hytera entered the Amateur Radio DMR market in 2016. Its ham products include the Hytera AR482Gi digital mobile radio.

Motorola alleged that proprietary and patented information was taken illegally by three former company engineers who went to work for Hytera, as "part of a deliberate scheme to steal and copy" its technology. The company said it would seek a global injunction to prevent Hytera from trade secret misappropriation and copyright infringement, a Motorola spokesperson said following the verdict.

"Today's verdicts are a tremendous victory for Motorola Solutions and a clear repudiation of the illegal and anticompetitive tactics employed by Hytera over the last decade," the company said in a statement. Motorola said technology features it developed started showing up in Hytera products soon after Hytera began hiring former Motorola engineers in 2008, according to the lawsuit.

The court victory marks Motorola's fourth legal win against Hytera. In 2018, the US International Trade Commission (ITC) ruled that Hytera had infringed several Motorola patents and issued an exclusion order preventing the importation, distribution, or sale of Hytera products found to be infringing the Motorola patents. Two courts in Germany also ruled that Hytera infringed on Motorola patents and implemented injunctions against those infringing products.

In a statement, Hytera expressed disappointment and disagreement with the verdict. "Hytera believes the verdict is unsupported by the evidence presented at trial. Hytera will appeal the verdict and is prepared for the appeal procedures ahead, which may take multiple years. Hytera maintains its faith that the American justice system will ultimately provide a fair outcome in this matter," the company said on its website. Hytera went on to say that it has "enhanced its corporate governance and added new policies and procedures related to intellectual property and the onboarding of new employees." Hytera said it's "engaged in an ongoing process of removing the affected source code from the products at issue and has been rolling out updated software to the marketplace."
